Located in Minden, a quaint riverside town in the north-east of Germany, LANAI® Thai-Massage & green Spa is a holistic eco-wellness centre. Offering traditional spa facilities – such as a Wellspring steam sauna and a relaxing whirlpool with Hydrosonic® underwater massage technology, the centre has also been recognised by the Thai government for their first-class Thai massages. With targeted grips and movements, the highly qualified team of masseuses work to bring the body back into balance and improve energy flow, specialising in Asian hot stone massages, healing herbal stamp treatments and soothing Thai oil aroma therapies.

The judging panel commend LANAI for their nature-oriented Thai relaxation lounge, where guests can enjoy a warm cup of tea after their treatments. The lounge overlooks the centre's spacious, bamboo-filled garden, complete with tranquil stone water features and native wildlife. With LANAI sourcing natural ingredients from Fair Trade company GEPA and generating their energy through on-site photovoltaics, spa-goers can truly embrace a oneness with nature at one of Germany's leading green spas. By prioritising both social and environmental responsibility, LANAI also ensure that their independent masseuses determine their own working hours and are free from the restrictions of company hierarchies.
